Our students have accomplished incredible things. They’ve helped build a better battery. They’ve mapped the surface of a star. They’ve created a children’s camp in the Dominican Republic. And they’ve done it all as undergraduates through the experiential learning The University of Toledo provides.

Through co-ops, internships and education abroad, you can work, learn and research shoulder to shoulder with the people leading your discipline. And with undergraduate research opportunities, you have the opportunity to make breakthroughs and get published well before grad school.

“I plugged into Ohio’s largest supercomputer and ended up with one of the nation’s most prestigious scholarships.”
— Nathan Szymanski, Class of 2020

Get involved with sports and recreation

Whether you cheer from the sidelines or compete on the field, you’re part of a community giving its all.

As a Division I Mid-American Conference school, our Toledo Rockets are defined by their intensity and will to succeed. Feel the pride and join the crowd with free student admission for all home games. Cheer alongside friends and alumni. Be part of the community. Experience for yourself why our athletic events are a cornerstone for our University and the city of Toledo.

Stay active and create the perfect study/play balance on or off the field. Compete in club and intramural sports. You can share your love for the game with people who play just as hard as you do. At the Student Recreation Center, try out our Olympic-size pool, rock climbing wall, indoor track, weightlifting and cardio equipment — or make a splash on the waterslide. Full-time students can also attend group exercise classes for free.

Learn and live on campus

The University of Toledo’s walkable, green campus is nestled in a residential community. Immerse yourself in a rich campus environment with perfect places to study and hang out. Study in the recently renovated library or catch some rays hanging with friends on the campus green spaces. And choose from a great selection of restaurants, from local favorites to national chains.

Feel at home in our residence halls – some of which are designed as Living Learning Communities. Created for students who want to live among people who share a specific academic or social interest, such as business and innovation or multiculturalism, Living Learning Communities promote intellectual, social and personal growth.

Students who participate in Greek life on campus can also choose to live with fellow fraternity or sorority members in McComas Village.

Wherever you live, learn or relax, you’ll be part of a campus united by respect, inclusion and equality.
You will do better in Toledo

Just beyond campus, you’ll find a bustling city packed with adventure. It’s a city built on grit, determination and time-tested resolve. We’re proud to be part of a diverse city that people from around the country and around the world call home. Rich in history and opportunity, it’s a city reaching new heights in growth and development.
