

~University of Toledo Department of History Spring 2023 Course Offerings ~

This packet of information is to help you sort through what History classes will be available for you to take in spring 2023. It is not meant to replace one-on-one advising. Both Dr. Charles Beatty, the department's undergraduate advisor, and I are more than happy to meet with you in person, meet with you virtually, speak with you on the phone, or advise you by email to help you choose your classes. You can also contact someone in the Office of Student Services for advising. I have listed our contact information below. Please don't hesitate to email one of us if you need help or advice.

HIST 3600: Women in American History

Spring 2023, TR 11:10-12:30, Face-to-face course

This course covers women in the history of the United States from the pre-colonial period to the present day. Students learn about and discuss women's participation and leadership in historic events, activism toward equality, and the lived experiences of women from diverse racial, ethnic, sexual, and economic intersectional backgrounds.

For more information, contact Dr. Chelsea Griffis at Chelsea.griffis@utoledo.edu.

SPRING 2023

AFRICA SINCE 1800

DR. SHINGI MAVIMA
blessing.mavima@utoledo.edu

HIST 3640: 001

Tue/Thur 2:30p-3:50p

Topics of Study include the Scramble for Africa, African resistance and nationalism, and independent African political, cultural and economic systems.

HIST 4300: LGBTQ History in America

Spring 2023, TR 12:55-2:15, face-to-face course

This course discusses the history of the LGBTQ+ community in the United States from the pre-colonial period to the present day. Students learn about and discuss the changing meaning of LGBTQ+ identities, medicalization of same-sex desire, laws against and in support of LGBTQ+ rights, and how activists demanded, and continue to demand, equality.

For more information, contact Dr. Chelsea Griffis at Chelsea.griffis@utoledo.edu.

HIST 4790: THE HOLOCAUST

SPRING 2023

DR. BARRY JACKISCH M/W 12:55-2:15

The Holocaust represents one of the darkest periods in human history. This course explores the Nazi genocide both in terms of broader Jewish history and the more specific context of the Third Reich and the Second World War. Special emphasis will be given to primary sources, first-person testimony, and visual representations. As Antisemitism rises around the world and the horrors of World War Two fade further into the past, this course will provide students with a better understanding of the consequences of hate,

HIST 4940: Public History Internship

Do you love museums? Do you enjoy a quiet afternoon in an archive looking through historical documents? Do you want to be the person who helps others learn and become passionate about history? If so, then an internship coordinated through the Department of History is for you!

History interns have worked in places like:

- The Canaday Center archive here at UT
- The River Raisin Battlefield
- The National Museum of the Great Lakes
- The Blissfield Historical Society in MI
- The Toledo Police Museum
- The Henry Ford Museum

Students who successfully complete their internship work 120 hours throughout the course of one semester on an individualized plan with their on-site mentor. This could include writing history essays for the public, helping assemble museum displays, processing archival records, and giving public presentations.

If you're a history major or minor, HIST 4940 fulfills part of your 4000-level class requirements! It also looks great on your resume or CV. Employers want to hire people who can write, think critically, and efficiently analyze information—all skills that you hone during your internship.

If you're interested in an internship during the spring semester, email Dr. Chelsea Griffis, Internship Coordinator, at Chelsea.griffis@utoledo.edu.

Requirements for the Undergraduate Major in History

The major of 33 hours in history must be distributed as follows:

- A. HIST 2000 (4 hours)
- B. Of the remaining 29 hours (or ten courses), four courses must be at the 4000 level. Three of the ten courses must be in the field of United States history, and three of the ten courses must be in fields of non-United States history.
- C. The requirement of 18 hours in related courses is to be met with courses chosen from at least three of the following areas: economics, political science, English and American literature, foreign language, geography, philosophy, sociology, psychology, women's and gender studies, art history, music history or theatre history. At least 12 of the hours in related courses must be in courses at the 3000 and 4000 levels. The related courses requirement may be met with completion of a minor in another discipline or a second major.

Students may not take P/NC for the minimum requirements for the major, but may opt for P/NC in all related courses.

Requirements for the Undergraduate Minor in History

The minor of 21 hours in history must be distributed as follows:

- A. HIST 2000 (4 hours)
- B. Of the remaining 17 hours (or 6 courses), 3 of the 6 courses must be at the 4000 level.
