

You can expect more from the new University of Toledo.

The University of Toledo and the Medical University of Ohio will be combined as one institution on July 1, 2006, joining the ranks of the University of Michigan and a handful of other public universities in the country that have professional colleges in business, education, engineering, law, medicine and pharmacy.

It will be an institution that provides so much more ...

More talent

The University will have more than 20,000 students, 7,000 employees and an alumni base of more than 100,000 graduates. Our diverse body of students, faculty, staff and alumni are highly talented and dedicated individuals with a commitment to excellence and innovation in education, collaboration and a vision for the future.

More research and technology

Pioneering basic, translational, and clinical research in health sciences, as well as, groundbreaking research in biology, engineering, chemistry, physics, applied mathematics, and social and behavioral sciences. Our researchers are known around the world for their significant publications in prestigious scientific and industry journals. Our new combined institution has a significantly increased grant base with the ability to secure more for the future. There also are more collaborative opportunities for your company.

More qualified candidates for employment

At The University of Toledo, our students are well-prepared for the challenges of the new global economy and understand the importance of a commitment to lifelong learning. In addition to the classroom, our students gain real-world experience through our internship, professional mentoring and work-study programs.

More safe, compassionate and leading-edge health care

The University Medical Center on the Health Science Campus has some of the country's leading physicians and experts in specialty medicine and surgical techniques. Our faculty members have educated many of the physicians in our area and possibly yours.
