(A) Policy statement

A bachelor's degree is based on the credit hours associated with a specific program of study. At the University, a bachelor's degree requires the completion of 120 to 126 semester credit hours unless it can be shown the additional course work is required to meet professional accreditation or licensing requirements (Ohio Department of Higher Education, Guidelines and Procedures for Academic Program Review, July 2016).

Students must satisfy each degree's major course requirements independently as elaborated by the individual colleges. Students may, however, use one degree's major requirements to fulfill elective credits for an additional degree. Credit hours earned from courses designated as general education may apply to both degrees. Additional hours above the general education and the majors may be counted towards both degrees.

As with the first degree, all coursework for an additional degree must include any prerequisites for that degree and the major requirements. Students interested in earning two bachelor's degrees are responsible for verifying requirements for each degree with the individual colleges and/or programs of study to ensure all requirements are met in order to earn both degrees.

The university's residency requirement must be met (Policy 3364-71-10).

Students interested in earning more than one degree will be charged tuition and fees as established by the University and made available from the treasurer's office. All tuition and fee assessments associated with earning more than one degree is the responsibility of the student.

(B) Purpose of policy

Because the University recognizes that earning more than one bachelor's degree simultaneously may be beneficial for a student, this policy provides consistency for awarding of dual bachelor's degrees.

(C) Scope

This policy applies to all undergraduate students enrolled at the University who are planning to earn dual bachelor's degrees.

This policy only addresses dual bachelor's degrees, not double majors (two majors offered as a single bachelor's degree etc.).

(D) Procedure

The Provost and Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs must approve any procedures established by a college, school or department in support of this policy.
