The organization operates with integrity to ensure the fulfillment of its mission through structures and processes that involve the board, administration, faculty, staff and students.

The University has embraced its mission of “Improving the Human Condition.” It is guided by its mission at all levels as it responds to local, national and global opportunities and challenges.
The organization’s allocation of resources and its processes for evaluation and planning demonstrate its capacity to fulfill its mission, improve the quality of its education and respond to future challenges and opportunities.

The University demonstrates resiliency and adaptability, remaining financially stable despite current economic climate.
Criterion 3: Student Learning and Effective Teaching

The organization provides evidence of student learning and teaching effectiveness that demonstrates it is fulfilling its educational mission.

The University demonstrates culture of student centeredness, assessment and innovation directed toward success of all students.
Criterion 4: Acquisition, Discovery and Application of Knowledge

The organization promotes a life of learning for its faculty, administration, staff and students by fostering and supporting inquiry, creativity, practice and social responsibility in ways consistent with its mission.

The University demonstrates commitment to connected, engaged learning through long-standing support of research and creative activity at every level in the institution, from matriculation to post-graduation.
As called for by its mission, the organization identifies its constituencies and serves them in ways both value.

The University’s long history of relevant and ongoing engagement precedes the merger and permeates the institution.
Special Emphasis: A Newly Merged University Looks to its Future

Focus on discovering additional ways to advance the merger in the areas of:

• Merging Cultures
• Teaching and Learning Synergies
• Economic Viability

The benefits of the merger are evident in the areas of teaching, research, and outreach and engagement. The continued potential for collaboration in many areas is substantial.
