Describe Program:

Currently the College of Nursing offers a doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) degree in consortium with Wright State University, which is a post-master's degree program. Trends in nursing education indicate the need for entry into practice at the doctoral level. Therefore the College of Nursing proposes a Doctor of Nursing Practice degree (DNP) with entry at the post-baccalaureate (BSN) level. This BSN-DNP program is proposed as a new program at UT, and will not be part of the Wright State Consortium.
