Biographical Sketch

Gustavus Ohlinger was born 15 July 1877 in Foochow, China, where his parents served as missionaries. He attended high school in Chefoo, China until 1898, when he came to the United States to further his education. After graduation from Law School at the University of Michigan, Ohlinger practiced law in Shanghai, China from 1902 to 1905 with T.R. Jernigan. It was also at this time that he traveled around the world. At the end of the Russo-Japanese War in 1905, Ohlinger and Jernigan's firm represented the Russian government in post-war negotiations.

In 1906, Ohlinger established an independent law practice in Toledo, Ohio. In 1909 he entered into the partnership of Rheinfrank and Ohlinger, and later resumed his independent practice until 1914. That year, Ohlinger joined the firm of Smith, Beckwith and Froelich which became Smith, Beckwith, and Ohlinger. In 1962, he resumed an independent practice in Toledo which he maintained until his death in 1972. Ohlinger specialized in federal law.

From 1918 to 1919, Ohlinger served as a captain in the United States Army with the Intelligence Division of the Army General Staff in Washington, D.C. during and after World War I. During the Second World War, he organized the Toledo Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol and served as a member of that unit until 1943.

During and after World War II, Ohlinger founded the Toledo United Nations Association (TUNA) as president of the organization. His other civic activities included: service on the board of governors of the American Association for the United Nations (1951-1955), membership on the Toledo Board of Education (1926-1934), the Ohio Bar Association, the National Commission of Organization for Peace, Phi Beta Kappa, and the Chamber of Commerce.

While living in Toledo, Gustavus Ohlinger practiced law and specialized in federal law; his clients included the Wabash and Ann Arbor Railroad Company. He also taught Civil Practice at the University of Toledo's College of Law in the academic year 1960-1961, and was awarded a LL.D. that same year. Scope and Content Note

This collection is arranged in nine series: Journals, Correspondence, Literary Productions, Tape Recordings, Scrapbooks and Scrapbook Materials, Printed Materials, Photographs, Ephemera, and Family Papers. The Journals series consists of a journal kept by Gustavus Ohlinger documenting his world travels from October 1902 to October 1905. The wedding journal of Gustavus and Helen may also be found in this series along with an Ohlinger family journal dating from 1913-1934.

The Correspondence series includes four subseries. Outgoing correspondence encompasses the period from 1891 through 1967 inclusively; one highlight of this subseries is the “Chefoo letters,” written by Gustavus Ohlinger and addressed to his parents. Both the originals and photocopies of the originals may be found in the collection. Incoming correspondence comprises the bulk of this series. It is arranged alphabetically, then chronologically within each folder. One digression from this arrangement is the series of correspondence between Theodore Roosevelt and Ohlinger. The Roosevelt correspondence includes communications from Roosevelt’s office, from Roosevelt himself, from Ohlinger to Roosevelt, and from T. Roosevelt, Jr. to Ohlinger. The third subseries are comprised of letters of introduction written for Ohlinger in 1903. The final subseries contain the personal correspondence of the Ohlinger family. These are divided by family relations with correspondence between Gustavus and his parents in one folder; Gustavus, his wife Helen, and his sister Constance in another folder; and the correspondence between Gustavus and his three children (John, Lucy and Alice) in yet another folder. There is also a folder of miscellaneous family correspondence in this subseries.

Literary productions in the Ohlinger collection include draft and manuscript copies of articles; published articles written by G.O. as well as publications by others; research notes (1891-1966); speeches and readings (1924-1965); course outlines created by Ohlinger when he taught at the University of Toledo (1960), along with other writing projects.

The next series is comprised of Tape recording. Various memories and recollections of Mr. Ohlinger are recorded. These include his childhood and early schooling in China, and his time spent between China, Africa and the United States. One of the recordings also documents Mr. Ohlinger’s interview with young Winston Spencer Churchill in 1901.

The Ohlinger papers also include Scrapbooks and Scrapbook Materials. “Our Summer Odyssey, August 1 to September 1, 1954,” is a combined journal and photo album of his trip to Europe. Also included in this series is a scrapbook of newspaper clippings dating from 1912-1926.

Printed Materials includes newspaper clippings that cover a wide range of topics and interests. This series also includes certificates and licenses, materials from South Africa and China, items from the Toledo United Nations Association, the Toledo War Chest, and a file of miscellaneous materials.

The Photographs series consists of a scrapbook of South African photos and various photos from his trip around the world (mainly South Africa and China from 1902-1905). There are also photos and portraits of Ohlinger and his family (1901-1968) and miscellaneous photos (1935-1936) in this portion of the collection.
