UT 2010 WORKSHOP ON IMMUNITY AND INFECTION

When? Saturday, October 16, 2010. We expect to start at 9:00 AM and end at 6:30 PM, but these times may change slightly.

Where? Health Education Building, University of Toledo Health Science Campus, Toledo-OH.

Who? Anyone interested in fun, cutting-edge science, including undergraduates, graduate and medical students, postdocs and faculty.

Why? A fabulous and exciting roster of confirmed speakers who will talk about some very cool topics:

Dr. Jim Mullins (University of Washington, Seattle) - HIV evolution
Dr. Theresa Koehler (University of Texas, Houston) - Anthrax
Dr. Maria Lara-Tejero (Yale University) - Salmonella pathogenesis
Dr. Michael Hollers (University of Colorado, Denver) - Autoimmunity and arthritis
Dr. Jeremy Kamil (Harvard University) - Cytomegalovirus
Dr. Christopher Kemball (Scripps Research Institute) - Coxsackievirus immunity
Dr. Viviana Ferreira (University of Toledo) – Complement
Dr. John Young (Salk Institute) – Virus-host interactions

How much? Very little, really. There is no registration fee and lunch is provided at no cost. We offer overnight accommodation for students living more than one-hour driving distance from Toledo. If you are a postdoc or a faculty member you are responsible for the latter expense. There are some hotels in the vicinity (we will post a list with prices). The Toledo Hilton is within campus, 5-minutes walking distance from the Health Education Building.

How many? The number of participants is limited, and the number of beds provided to students is even more limited. We will accept applicants on a first-come-first served basis. So the sooner you apply, the better.

I’m not sure... Then contact us with any questions that you may have. Send and email (isabel.novella@utoledo.edu) or call us (419-383-6442).

I want to attend! Awesome. Please fill an application and fax it (419-383-3002) or email it to diane.ammons@utoledo.edu. We will acknowledge your submission.

If you have attended past workshops, you may notice that there are a few changes. We have moved the event from the Hilton Hotel to the Health Education Building, we have cancelled Friday night dinner, and students who request overnight accommodation are now required to write a brief essay explaining why they are interested.
