

Dr. Sanjay V. Khare,
Professor and Chair
Department of Physics and Astronomy
The University of Toledo
Toledo, OH 43606-3390

October 1st, 2018

Dear Professor Khare,

It gives me great pleasure to write to you to express gratitude for your efforts to make our Ohio-Region Section of the American Physical Society (OSAPS) meeting last week possible. In the name of the OSAPS Executive Committee I would like to extend my thanks to you and your department.

We found the University of Toledo and your Department of Physics and Astronomy extremely welcoming. Many thanks to the meeting organizers, Dr. Ellingson and Dr. Podrza, and all the faculty, staff and students whom have made us feel welcomed and have put in the time and effort to make this meeting successful. As the 2018-2019 Chair of the Ohio-region Section of the APS, and on behalf of our Executive Committee, I want to tell you that we have developed a special appreciation for meetings that have been well run. The choices that the local organizers have to make with respect to topics, speakers, and facilities are critical to the success of the OSAPS conferences. The University of Toledo meeting was very well organized and run. We got to meet and hear from outstanding researchers both from the University of Toledo, as well as from the larger physics community. The more than 75 published abstracts are testament of the valuable contribution of this meeting to physics in our region.

Thank you again for agreeing to welcome our meeting to your Department. We owe you a debt of gratitude.

Sincerely,

Petru S. Fodor
