Executive Summary

The mission of the College of Nursing (CON) is to improve the human condition; to educate professional nurses in a manner that engages and serves a diverse learner population as part of a larger metropolitan university, to discover and disseminate nursing knowledge that informs evidence-based practice for quality patient outcomes, and to address the service needs of our stakeholders through innovative programs and entrepreneurial initiatives.

The College of Nursing strategic plan is congruent with the UT Directions 2011 Strategic Plan by way of organizing goals under the same six strategic areas of focus. Goals that aim to promote diversity are described. The College of Nursing faculty, students, and staff have a shared responsibility to accomplish, monitor and revise the goals.

Recognition of human diversity is foundational to respect and trust among the stakeholders of our community of interest. The College of Nursing applies the UT Definition of Diversity to its mission, strategic plan, and behavior. The College of Nursing stakeholders strive to abide by The University of Toledo Core Values as they implement mission driven strategic plans.

The College of Nursing encourages active participation by all constituent members in an environment in which cultural differences are valued as a part of the learning and work environments. The College is committed to working in a diligent manner to increase minority representation among all constituent members. Its constituent members accept the responsibility to enhance multicultural student, staff and faculty presence within the college and healthcare environments for a diverse population in a variety of settings.

The College of Nursing Diversity plan describes the approach used in establishing the goals, initiatives and strategies to focus on the issues and concerns that must be addressed if the members of the college will be a diverse community of learners, faculty and staff dedicated to improving the human condition. It is hoped that we continually progress in promoting an atmosphere that overtly recognizes, celebrates and promotes a multicultural environment that mirrors our community of interest. The College of Nursing Diversity Plan is updated annually based on trended data analysis and outcomes of previous year(s) goals.

College Mission Statement Related to Diversity

The College of Nursing embraces differences in ideas, and acknowledges the value of learning, working, and social experiences that promote acceptance of human diversity related to age, color, ethnicity, gender, religion, disability, socio-economic status, sexual orientation, gender identity, race, and national origin. Within this framework, a diversity of engagements will foster faculty, staff, and student respect for each other. The College of Nursing is committed to creating a learning environment where students provide healthcare for diverse populations in a spectrum of settings.

Part 1: Attract and Retain Diverse Students:

- a. The African American Black Student Nurse Association (AABSNA) is being reactivated. Students are in the process of meeting to identify an advisor; if they do not choose an advisor, the College of Nursing will seek an advisor for the organization.
- b. The annual 8th grade enrichment visits to UT have continued. The UT CON used an interdisciplinary effort to host the Spring visit program for 8th graders to explore nursing as a health care profession. The CON served as onsite coordinators for the multidisciplinary event.
- c. The CON partnered with the Blue and Gold Scholarship with the Office of Undergraduate Admissions: 60 diverse students were contacted at a Cleveland event. The Admissions office will follow up with emails or phone calls to evaluate those students who indicated an interest in nursing.

Pre-nursing student admission numbers dropped between 2009 and 2010, including minority groups. Admissions in Fall 2010 compared to those in Fall 2011 shows consistency and improvement as the new admission standards have been established. There has been a slight increase in overall enrollment with an increase of five more African American students and nine more Hispanic students. Statistics are provided (Appendices 4 and 5). Please note data provided by the UT Institutional research Department (Appendix 4) do not reflect BGSU students in the major. See appendix 5 for outcome data that include
