The University of Toledo (UT) College of Nursing

The University of Toledo (UT) College of Nursing is located on the UT Health Science campus in a residential area of south Toledo. It is considered by many to be one of the most technologically advanced campuses in the nation.

The College of Nursing, established in 1971, is a major provider of undergraduate and graduate nursing education in northwest Ohio.

The UT College of Nursing faculty, facilities and resources provide excellent opportunities for clinical nursing experiences, research, professional development and continuing nursing education.

The Family Nurse Practitioner (FNP) major is a two-year, full-time program with part-time options. The curriculum is designed to prepare advanced practice nurses to care for families in a wide variety of community and hospital-based health settings. The curriculum includes a minimum of 600 contact hours for clinical practice and selected laboratory experiences.
