Conflict of Interest Policy

Compliance Corner

Confronting the federal government requires an unusual breadth of medical and technical knowledge, and no one has a complete knowledge of all of the potential conflicts of interest. Potential conflicts can arise from ownership or from equity in an enterprise is interested in research alternatives. Conflicts can arise from any activity that could influence the use of federal monies by an employee. Depending on the nature and extent of the potential conflict, employees must be consulted with the office of the institutional
