Course Description (Prerequisite: PSY 1010 Principles of Psychology)

In the mental health field, the study of abnormal human behavior is referred to as psychopathology (from the Greek words psyche [mind/soul] and pathos [suffering]). Within the area of psychopathology, health professionals use a manual called the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders (currently, DSM-5) to make diagnoses. The DSM-5 categories and their descriptions provide mental health professionals with a common language for communication in practice and research. This course discusses psychopathology within DSM-5 diagnostic categories, but it is important to note that an understanding of psychopathology transcends memorizing these categories.

Learning Objectives

- 1. To gain an understanding of what constitutes abnormality
- 2. To examine the history of models and theoretical orientations of psychopathology and its treatment
- 3. To examine popular models, theoretical orientations, and DSM-5 categories in regard to:
 - a. Diagnosis
 - b. Etiology (cause/source)
 - c. Prognosis (course and ¬ outcome of disorder)
 - d. Treatment

Class Format

This is a distance learning class, meaning that materials will be presented online in the form of PowerPoints (PPTs), videos, and case examples depicting mental disorders and treatment. Each week, you will be required to complete the required readings and activities through LearnSmart (a component of your online textbook) and to participate in online discussions about the course material.

Course Materials

Online E-Textbook ("Smartbook") and Adaptive Learning Software

Nolen-Hoeksema, S. & Marroquin, B. (2016). (Ab)normal Psychology (7th ed.). [LearnSmart]. New York, NY: McGraw Hill Education.

NOTE: You MUST have access to the e-textbook and adaptive learning software by purchasing Connect Plus access. You can purchase a registration code through Connect Plus. Instructions for purchasing access will be emailed to all registered students and will be available on Blackboard.

LearnSmart: The textbook for this class is an electronic text paired with adaptive learning software designed to facilitate learning and retention of the material. We anticipate that you will find it engaging and very helpful for your learning! The LearnSmart software breaks down each chapter into 4 learning tasks: preview, read, practice, and recharge. Preview provides an initial, "quick glance" overview of the chapter to prepare you for reading the material. The read feature in LearnSmart is unique in that instead of simply reading a chapter from start to finish, LearnSmart highlights and draws your attention to the most important material. This will change as you demonstrate mastery over topics. The practice feature in LearnSmart provides questions (multiple choice, fillin-the-blank, etc.) to test your knowledge of material. These questions are intended to help you learn, and your performance on the questions will be used by LearnSmart to guide further reading. Note that the LearnSmart questions are intended to aid in learning the material; your grade on these assignments will be based on successful completion of the learning questions (10 points for each chapter, see below), not on accuracy of your responces. To complete the LearnSmart chapter assignment, you must correctly answer enough questions. Your progress will be displayed in the top right corner of LearnSmart. After completing the assignment, the recharge feature is helpful as a study aid prior to taking your exam, as LearnSmart draws your attention back to topics you may have forgotten.

*Before completing LearnSmart assignments, you must watch the "LearnSmart Video Tutorial" and review the "How to Use LearnSmart" link—both in Connect and posted in the LearnSmart folder on Blackboard.

Blackboard: The weekly course lecture materials will be available on Blackboard at least one week before they are due. We will also provide discussion questions, exams, and exam grades via Blackboard.

PowerPoints: For each chapter, a PowerPoint has been prepared to reinforce the materials covered in the electronic textbook. Each week, you should review the PPT corresponding to the chapter that you are responsible for. Note that there are instances when material covered in the PPTs, but not in your textbook, will be included on the exam, so the PPTs will also be a great resource when studying.

Discussion Board: A weekly discussion board will be maintained on Blackboard. Students are required to make at least one quality post to the discussion board for each assigned chapter and will receive a grade for participation. You can discuss anything about the topics, but 1 or 2 discussion questions will be posted per chapter to get you started. Students are encouraged to participate further in discussions beyond these minimum requirements.

Late Enrollment: If a student enrolls during the first two weeks of class, it is the student's responsibility to contact the professor and the TA within 24 hours of enrolling to inform them of his/her late enrollment. This will help ensure that the student receives all missed materials and information that has already been circulated.

Policy on Missed Assignments and Late Work: If unavoidable circumstances occur and you must miss an exam, discussion, or LearnSmart activity, documentation for your absence (e.g., illness, funeral, court date) is required. Please let the TA know as soon as possible and in advance of an exam or assignment due date if you will be unable to complete it on time. Late work will not receive credit except in the case of extenuating circumstances. It is your responsibility to keep track of when your assignments are due and when exams are scheduled.

Email Communication: The course instructor and TA are available through email. You may email the TA with any questions or concerns. On weekdays, you will receive a response within 48 hours. Note that emails sent after 7pm EST may not be responded to before the following morning and that the instructor and TA may not be available over weekends, holidays, and university breaks.

Required Coursework: You will be required to complete a LearnSmart assignment and post on the discussion board each week. In addition, there will be 3 exams administered via Blackboard. Each exam consists of 50 multiple choice items (2 pts. each) and is worth 100 points. All three exams will be 75 minutes long.

Extra Credit: During the first seven weekdays of the fall semester (through Wednesday, September 5th), you will have the opportunity to earn 14 extra credit points by responding to thought-provoking questions. No prior reading is required. A link to this assignment will be emailed to you by the course instructor and posted on Blackboard. Additional extra credit opportunities may be added over the course of the semester.

The extra credit survey can be found here: https://www.psychdata.com/s.asp?SID=166286

Exams: The three exams in this course will be taken online through Blackboard. Exams will become available at the beginning of the respective exam week at 12:00AM EST and will remain accessible until 3:00PM EST on the last day of the exam week. You will have a maximum of 75 minutes from the time that you open the exam to complete it. Thus, to have the full 75 minutes, you must begin your exam by no later than 1:45PM EST on the last exam day. You will only be provided with one attempt for each exam.

NOTE: Online exams require use of LockDown Browser and Respondus Monitor to ensure a secure testing environment. You need to download and install LockDown Browser and have a working webcam for exams. Information about how to use these tools will be emailed to you and will be available on Blackboard.
