NANCY YOUSSEF

MBA, Finance and Healthcare Systems Management Alumna

Class of '13

Doctoral Candidate, Cairo University

Motto: "To be a success, be different!"

“Pursuing an M.B.A. at UToledo’s COBI was a dream come true and my experience as a full-time graduate assistant in the John B. and Lillian E. Neff Department of Finance literally did change my life! I discovered a passion for both research and teaching, hence I made a career shift from banking to academia. Currently, I’m a Doctoral Candidate in Cairo University’s Faculty of Commerce DBA program, majoring in Finance and Investment.

As an international student, never once did I feel out of place; on the contrary, UToledo always felt like home. The academic community and culture are so embracing, diverse and welcoming, making it impossible to feel homesick. I also had the privilege of serving on COBI's Diversity Committee as the Graduate Students' representative for 2013. Nevertheless, double majoring in Finance and Healthcare Systems Management expanded my horizons immensely. This made me realize how interconnected fields are and that it's okay to tap into new areas and succeed. That's an exceptional opportunity provided by COBI that all students must seize."

Nancy's recommendations for students:

"The Finance department's Trading Room is a must-see; having access to Bloomberg Terminals and hands-on-training on trading, investment, portfolio management and research (secondary data).

For all the coffee lovers and night owls, such as myself, the student lounge/kitchen area is definitely a haven where the vending machine's coffee never runs out."
