

THE UNIVERSITY OF TOLEDO

COMMENCEMENT
FALL 2023

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear graduates,

Congratulations! Welcome to the prestigious group of individuals who proudly call themselves alumni of The University of Toledo.

Our support for your success as a UToledo student has been unwavering from the first moment you set foot on campus to today's celebration. That commitment continues as the University enhances the value of your UToledo degree through life-changing education and research today and into the future.

Take a moment today to recognize and celebrate your achievements. The journey to earning your degree required many years of hard work and determination. It was also made possible with support from loved ones who share in your joy today. Be sure to recognize those who supported you on this path to success and embrace this milestone together.

The world is waiting for you, full of career and life opportunities, and we can't wait to see what you'll do next. Before you go, we want you to know that you will always be an important part of our Rocket family. We're counting on you to be an ambassador for your alma mater, championing the future successes of UToledo and lifting up fellow graduates who follow in your footsteps.

Thank you for giving us the opportunity to be a part of this time in your life. On behalf of all of us at The University of Toledo, including our Board of Trustees, faculty, advisors, staff, alumni and community supporters, we are proud of you. As a UToledo graduate, you are ready for whatever the future brings. Congratulations and Go Rockets!

Sincerely,

Gregory C. Postel, M.D.
President
The University of Toledo

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

December 16, 2023

Patrick E. Bowe
President and Chief Executive Officer
The Andersons Inc.

Pat Bowe joined The Andersons in November 2015 and has more than 40 years of experience in the agricultural sector. He had previously served as corporate vice president of Cargill Inc. and as one of the leaders of the company's Food Ingredients and Systems platform since 2007. Prior to that role, Bowe was the president of Cargill's corn wet milling business from 1999-2007. Bowe began his career working as a cash grain merchant and worked at the Chicago Board of Trade. He also worked in metals trading, sweetener sales and plant management for Cargill. Currently, he serves on the board for United Malt Group, the fourth largest commercial maltster globally, which operates as a network of companies spanning North America, the UK and Australia. He is former Chairman of the Toledo Alliance for the Performing Arts Board of Trustees and continues to hold a seat on the board. In addition, he is the current treasurer and director of the Toledo Museum of Art.

Bowe earned a bachelor's degree in political science from Stanford University and a master's degree from the Stanford Food Research Institute.

Robes and hoods worn during the commencement are steeped in tradition that dates to the 11th century, when the monks who administered Oxford University in England wore shoulder capes to protect themselves from scratches when they gathered alms, and hoods to protect their shaven heads from the cold. Eventually, the garb was worn daily to serve as both insulation from the damp and cold inside the university’s walls and as identification that one had permission to pass into specific college buildings.

Similar practices were later adopted by the monks who administered Cambridge University in England in the 12th century and in later years by other universities administered by the Benedictine, Franciscan and Dominican monks across much of western Europe.

In the United States, the academic robes and hoods were first adopted as ceremonial attire for college officials in 1754 at the institution now known as Columbia University. In 1885, students in many of the country’s colleges and universities launched a movement to permit graduating candidates to wear robes and caps during the commencement. Eight years later, an intercollegiate commission of university officials adopted the country’s first code of color and design for the academic garb. Faculty soon adopted the custom of wearing gowns at commencement and other academic ceremonies. Although the code has been revised many times, today’s academic regalia represents those modifications accepted in 1960 and adopted by nearly 95% of the nation’s postsecondary institutions.

In the United States today, the academic robe is most often black; some institutions, however, sanction the use of specific colors. The length of the robe, the width of the sleeves’ borders and the length of the hood all increase with each advanced degree.

Colors in the hoods identify both the specific field of study in which the degree was earned, as shown by the velvet border, as well as the institution which granted it, as shown by the lining. The color table provides a key to the fields of study represented by The University of Toledo’s graduates, faculty, administrators and distinguished guests.

GRADUATION WITH DISTINCTIONS

Although many traditions of academe are treasured and maintained with rigor, others evolve to complement the distinct personality of the institution and its focus on students. Such was the case in the fall of 1995 at The University of Toledo, when it replaced its single, campus-wide honors convocation with more personal ceremonies hosted by the dean and faculty of each academic college.

Changes in the convocation's format led to changes in how faculty select and recognize outstanding students within their respective colleges. One significant change has been the awarding of medallions to graduates of the University Honors Program.

The University recognizes outstanding academic achievement based on grade point average in the law and baccalaureate colleges by awarding the degree Cum Laude (with Honors), Magna Cum Laude (with High Honors) and Summa Cum Laude (with Highest Honors). At the associate level, this designation is High Scholarship.

In addition, the University now bestows colored cords to honor all baccalaureate and associate candidates who qualify for graduation with distinction.

HONORS COLLEGE MEDALLIONS

The Honors College presents its graduating candidates with cast medallions that hang from gold ribbons and diplomas indicating the completion of all the honors requirements of their baccalaureate colleges. These candidates, the Honors College dean and the directors of each college's honors program are wearing their medallions in today's ceremony. In order to qualify for graduation with the Honors College diploma and medallion, each student must maintain at least a 3.3 cumulative grade point average, earn a substantial number of credits through designated honors courses, complete a thesis or research project and satisfy all the other requirements of his or her respective college's honors program.

HONORS CORDS

The University has awarded honors cords to all undergraduate candidates who will graduate with distinction. Blue and gold twisted cords have been awarded to each baccalaureate student who maintained a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.9 for all college work and who will be granted a diploma bearing the words Summa Cum Laude, the University's highest of three special honors. Blue cords have been awarded to each baccalaureate student maintaining a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.6 and who will graduate Magna Cum Laude, the University's second highest honor. Gold cords have been awarded to each baccalaureate student maintaining a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.3 and who will graduate Cum Laude, the University's third highest honor. White cords have been awarded to each associate student maintaining a cumulative grade point average of 3.3 or higher throughout his or her studies and who will graduate with High Scholarship.

MILITARY CORDS

Red, white and blue military honor cords recognize graduates who have served or are currently serving in the United States Armed Forces.

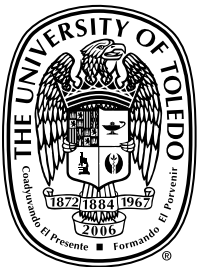

HISTORY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF TOLEDO

The University of Toledo is a nationally recognized, comprehensive, doctoral-granting, metropolitan research institution. The University was founded in 1872 by Jesup W. Scott, a public-spirited Toledoan, who donated 160 acres of land as an endowment for a university to train young people for roles in what Scott believed would be the "Future Great City of the World." Called the Toledo University of Arts and Trades, it provided only a limited curriculum and closed its doors in 1875 due to a lack of funding. In 1884, the institution reopened as the Toledo Manual Training School after Scott's sons gave the remaining assets of the University to the city.

In 1928, Toledo taxpayers approved a bond levy to raise funds to build a new, permanent home for the institution after many years of existing in temporary locations. Three years later, the University moved to the new Bancroft Street campus. The University continued as a municipal institution until 1967, when it joined Ohio's system of public higher education.

On July 1, 2006, The University of Toledo merged with the Medical University of Ohio. The medical school was created by the state legislature in 1964 as a stand-alone institution to help meet the country's urgent need for physicians. Originally housed in Lucas County's former tuberculosis hospital, the Health Science Campus is located in south Toledo in buildings designed by the internationally known architect Minoru Yamasaki. Through this merger, the University now offers undergraduate and graduate degrees in programs in the arts; humanities; social sciences; natural sciences; engineering; education; pharmacy; health professions, including nursing and medicine; and the law. It is one of only a handful of public institutions in the country that provides such a broad range of undergraduate, professional and graduate programs.

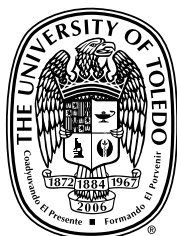

SEAL OF THE UNIVERSITY OF TOLEDO

The basic design has been used since 1931, when permission to use the coat of arms was granted by Don Jose Ballester, the mayor of Toledo, Spain. The seal recognizes the sister-city relationship between Toledo, Ohio, and Toledo, Spain.

The University's motto, inscribed in old Spanish at the base of the seal, reads: "Coadyuvando el Presente, Formando el Porvenir," which translates to "Guide to the Present, Moulder of the Future." The seal bears a large, blue eagle holding a shield divided into four segments. The upper left portion is from the original Spanish coat of arms. In 2006, the seal was changed to add three new shield quadrants to represent the University's mission of education and research and the merger with the Medical University of Ohio. The banner below the eagle includes four dates: 1872, the year the University was founded; 1884, the year it became a municipal institution; 1967, the year it joined Ohio's system of higher education; and 2006, the year it merged with the Medical University of Ohio.
