Comments/Notes

The Literacy Specialist Endorsement was a specialized two-year professional development program in literacy education offered by a consortium of eight Ohio universities, called the Literacy Educator Training Consortium (LETC) from 2008-2010. The purpose of the program was to prepare cohorts of Regional Literacy Consultants, School Literacy Consultants and Early Language and Literacy Consultants who would serve districts in school improvement positions and early childhood centers. The Program consisted of 18 semester hours that included both online coursework and a site-based internship. Successful completion of the program fulfilled requirements for a Literacy Specialist Endorsement, a state credential that could be added to a current professional teaching certificate.

No existing courses will be affected by the closure of this program. There are currently no students in this program.

Rationale

The Literacy Educator Training Consortium disbanded in 2010 and the program has not been offered since that time. There are no students currently enrolled or in the pipeline for this program at this time. This proposal is to officially put this endorsement program into dormancy at the state level.
