THE POWER TO DO

Water Security can be described as the availability of water of a quality and quantity sufficient to sustain human health and well-being, livelihoods, ecosystems, and economic production. Water Security, therefore, includes a population's ability to protect it from both man-made and natural threats. Panelists will explore questions of water security, including water treatment cybersecurity, aging water infrastructure, and climate-related natural disasters.

Friday, Oct. 31, 2025
9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. ET

Registration is free for the public and $55 for attorneys seeking 2.5 hours of Ohio CLE.
Register at utoledo.edu/law/events/great-lakes by Oct. 29.
