Biographical / Historical

The Psychology Clinic at the University of Toledo is a training clinic for teaching as well as research for both the students and faculty in the Department of Psychology. It provides support to the Clinical Psychology doctoral program with an infrastructure and physical structure for both initial and ongoing advanced training. Secondly, it is a mental health agency that gives high-quality and affordable clinical care to the whole Toledo area which is its overall goal. Research is another major part of the UTPC since it is an important part of training in the program. The Clinic gives evidence-based treatments that are delivered by Clinical Psychology doctoral students that are supervised by the expert faculty that are licensed clinical psychologists.
