PERSONAL INFORMATION:

Name: Cheryl McCullumsmith
 Alias: Cheryl McCullum

RANK/TITLE: Professor and Chair Chief
Department: Psychiatry Psychiatry
Institution University of Toledo University of Toledo Medical Center
 College of Medicine and Life Sciences

My academic and life passion is to implement a novel comprehensive system of care for individuals with mental illness. This system is steeped in the full potential present when mental illness is treated as an illness at every conceptual and patient care level. Theoretically, mental illness and its significant morbidities and mortalities, namely overdose and suicide, must be researched and treated as completely and as seriously as other leading causes of death such as heart attacks and cancer. Practically, systems of care ranging from acute emergency care to chronic disease management must be implemented to assure patient health. I have the full complement of experience and outlook to effect this change. I have experience in development of novel systems of care on a health system and community level. I have basic science expertise in receptor neurophysiology and clinical research expertise ranging from drug trials to community engagement qualitative projects. I have experience in initiation of large university wide programs in coordination with the state departments of Medicaid and with other leading universities. Finally, I have significant practical experience in financial management of resources, both at the departmental and institutional level, including significant negotiations with managed care and Medicaid organizations. My strength is my ability to integrate the academic, the clinical, the financial, and the leadership skills that I have to motivate and inspire others and to grow programs and careers. I see opportunity and ways forward and I have the drive, the passion and the vision to make it happen.

RESEARCH INTERESTS:

My research interests focus on improving quality of care and developing novel treatment interventions for patients in psychiatric crisis. To these ends, I have two separate lines of research. One line of research focuses on patient centered outcomes research to develop interventions to enable patients to connect with appropriate follow-up care after psychiatric crisis. The second line of research is the development of novel clinical therapeutic tools to treat patients in crisis, especially patients having acute suicidal ideation. I have been focusing primarily on the use of low dose ketamine as an adjunctive agent to treat acute suicidal ideation.
