Our National Science Foundation program, Graduate Fellows in High School STEM Education: An Environmental Science Learning Community at the Land-Lake Ecosystem Interface partners advanced graduate students in STEM disciplines at UT with area high school teachers and their students.

Graduate fellow benefits:
• $30,000 annual stipend, plus tuition, fees, and insurance paid
• Develop teaching competence, mentoring, communication, and team building skills

Graduate fellow obligations:
• Spend up to 10 hours per week in the high school classroom
• Spend up to 5 hours per week in classroom preparation & meetings
  • Attend a two week summer institute (in early June)

Application details:
• Fellows must be U.S. citizens
• Fellows must be University of Toledo students
  • Preference is given to Ohio residents
• Application deadline is February 8, 2012
• Applications available at http://www.utoledo.edu/nsm/lec/

For additional information contact Rachel Lohner
419-530-8364 or rachel.lohner@utoledo.edu