

Process Flow - COVID-related Student Academic Accommodations for Remote Learning Requests

If Student Tests Positive for COVID:

If Student Has Other COVID-Related Request for Remote Learning Supportive Measures:

- This process flow should occur when students require supportive measures in multiple courses. If a student is seeking supportive measures for a single course, they should be encouraged to engage first with the course instructor, and to use this process if unable to resolve the request directly with the course instructor.
- Relevant circumstances for this type of remote learning supportive measure would include but are not limited to: needing to self-quarantine if exposed to COVID, returning from travel to an area that requires self-quarantine, needing to provide care for dependent or other family member related to COVID. Many of these situations may be temporary in nature (e.g., for 14 days), but some may be for the remainder of the semester.
