

FUTURE OF HIGHER EDUCATION FORUMS

WALK BEFORE YOU RUN: HOW TRANSPARENT ASSIGNMENT DESCRIPTIONS CAN FOSTER GREATER GROWTH IN STUDENTS

SPEAKER:

Christopher Martin, PhD
Visiting Associate Professor
College of Arts and Letters

ABOUT THIS SESSION

Transparent learning is an approach to course and assignment design that emphasizes how and why students are asked to learn course content in particular ways. This approach, because it articulates the literal process whereby success is achieved, is particularly beneficial for students who are unfamiliar with best practices in college courses.

NEW DATE: WEDNESDAY, FEB. 13, 2019

9-11 a.m.
Carlson Library, room 1005

Christopher Martin, PhD

THE UNIVERSITY OF TOLEDO
1872

For more information and live-streaming links, visit utoledo.edu/offices/provost/future-of-higher-education-forum.

Sponsored by the Office of the Provost